

WCM QUALITY GLOBAL GROWTH (ASX:WCMQ) INVESTMENT UPDATE

31 January 2019

PORTFOLIO UPDATE

The portfolio performed in line with the broader market during the month with a portfolio return of 3.58% versus the 4.54% return of its benchmark, the MSCI All Country World (ex-Australia) Index. The portfolio has outperformed by 1.32% since inception.

Global equity markets posted strong gains in January with the bellwether MSCI All Country World Index rising by 7.8% in USD terms. The stronger Australian dollar over the month reduced these gains back to 4.4% for unhedged index investors (the WCM Quality Global Growth portfolio is unhedged).

The main catalyst for the rebound was the more dovish message from the US Federal Reserve regarding the outlook for interest rates. This follows a very weak end to 2018 for risk assets, during which investors feared rising US interest rates would trigger a material slowdown in economic growth. Markets also took solace from signs of a possible breakthrough in the long running trade dispute between the US and China.

In terms of regions, there was little difference between the returns of the broader developed and emerging market indices. The best performing sectors during the month were those considered likely to benefit most from the more benign interest rate environment. These included autos, industrials and basic materials.

The stand out performers (share price gains of 15% plus) in the portfolio for January included Latin America's leading ecommerce firm, MercadoLibre, the world's largest oilfield services company Schlumberger, and Shopify, another ecommerce platform provider. German flavour and fragrance firm Symrise, and medical technologies specialist Stryker were also among the major positive contributors for the month. Indian private bank HDFC Bank and life science technology firm Illumina were part of a small group of stocks that posted negative returns for the month.

The recent market environment has provided challenges for many money management firms, particularly those with an investment process that relies on making macro-economic predictions. Sentiment on economic growth, interest rates and trade has been changing on almost a monthly basis, causing the increased volatility in equity markets. This typically leads to increased portfolio turnover and ultimately lower returns. WCM Investment Management's process does not rely on any economic forecasting. Their sole focus is on identifying companies with expanding economic moats and corporate cultures supportive of this moat trajectory. The performance of the portfolio during the recent market volatility is consistent with its objective of minimising drawdowns when markets are weaker and keeping pace with them when rising sharply.

HOW INVESTMENTS ARE CHOSEN FOR THIS PORTFOLIO

WCM's two key criteria for any company to be considered for inclusion in the WCM Quality Global Growth Strategy are 1) a rising competitive advantage (or expanding economic moat) and 2) a corporate culture that supports the expansion of this moat. WCM believes the direction of a company's economic moat is of more importance than its absolute width or size.

Their research therefore is focused on identifying those companies with a positive moat trajectory as measured by a rising return on invested capital (ROIC) as opposed to those with a large but static or declining moat. WCM also strongly believes that corporate culture is a key determinant of a firm's ability to achieve a consistently growing moat. WCM has developed a proprietary approach to analysing corporate culture and has investment team members solely dedicated to this part of their process.
